Master of Laws (LLM) By Research

EBS Students at Leedsmet

The Master of Laws (LLM) by research enables qualified and experienced legal practitioners gain recognition for their achievements and undertake a FAST TRACK route to a Masters award. The award enables delegates to gain a full Masters qualification in one year part-time study.

This is the only LLM programme that recognises your professional qualification and provides insight into contemporary legal issues and challenges facing legal practitioners in a competitive global market.

The award is specially designed for busy legal practitioners. There are only two modules to achieve the LLM, the Research methods and Dissertation. It is designed to challenge your thinking and take you beyond the conventional notions of legal practice. The programme enables you to carry out extensive research in your chosen area of law, update your professional knowledge and critically evaluate and appreciate contemporary issues in laws.

Key Features

- ◆ Unique accelerated FAST-TRACK route to a full Master of Laws.
- ◆ Recognition of prior academic and professional qualifications - enabling you to gain advanced standing.
- ◆ Completion of the programme in 12 months.
- ◆ The taught element (Research Methods) is delivered as one week intensive block at the University in UK.
- ◆ Enables you to network, share ideas and learn from the practical experiences of other like-minded individuals on the programme.
- ◆ A rich and stimulating blend of teaching and learning strategies used in the programme enable you to develop critical insight into legal issues and challenges.
- ◆ Ability to proceed to PhD.
- ◆ Assessment based on applied coursework, assignment, case-study and dissertation. No formal examinations.

To gain entry onto this FAST-TRACK programme you must hold Bachelor of Laws (LLB) and BL.
